Workshop registration form and fees may be submitted through SEA's website or by mail. SEA encourages everyone to register as soon as possible to help organizers plan appropriately for presentation handouts and refreshments.

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Mary Ari

Dr. Mary D. Ari serves as a Senior Health Scientist in the Office of the Associate Director for Science at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Atlanta Georgia. Her recent work has focused on developing and executing plans and strategies to ensure the quality and integrity of the scientific work at CDC, and on scientific career development. She has mentored several scientists through the OADS scientific rotation that she established to support the professional development of scientists interested in pursuing a career track in the science leadership, management and policy field. She also led the development of the CDC plan for public access to data, the data policy, and continues to lead implementation of this initiative. She led the development of the Science impact framework, which she first presented at the CDC public health grand rounds in January 2014. She is very passionate about impact assessment and continues to promote the use of the Science Impact Framework.
